PRIVACY POLICY

This Privacy Policy is to confirm how we collect, manage and process personal data in line with the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR)

For legitimate business reasons, we collect names, addresses, telephone numbers, email addresses and business category details of all our customers in order to ensure an efficient and professional service. We will never collect sensitive information without your explicit consent.

Although we do accept payment by credit or debit card, we do not store any card details.

We value and respect your privacy and will not share your data with any third parties whatsoever for marketing purposes.

Data is stored on our own secure server within our UK based premises together with connected documents that are necessary for our business and legal reasons.

We may contact you from time to time by telephone, post or email regarding past, present or future services or to notify you of circumstances important to the efficient execution of a service for you and the ongoing efficient running of our business.

Our website may use "cookies" to enhance performance and we may use details of traffic data to our site for analytical purposes only. You can usually modify your browser to prevent the use of cookies if preferred although this may cause some parts of our site to not function properly.

By visiting our website and accepting our terms and conditions and privacy policy you signify your acceptance of this policy.

Should you wish to opt out and have your details deleted from our system, please notify us by emailing info@abacouriers.co.uk You can change your preferences at any time.
